MUSIC IN HEAVEN.

Glowing Description of the Melodies of the Celestial Land.

Rev. Dr. Talmage's Discourse From the Brooklyn Tabernacle Pulpit After a Tour of Texas.

A Sermon Descriptive of the Power of Song, in this Life and in the One Promised-An Elequent Appeal-

Special to the Gazette. BROOKLYN, Sept. 7 .- Dr. Talunge's sermou for to-day is a glowing description of the melodies of the Celestial land. His text was (Rev.v., 9), "And they sung a new song. " Following is the sermon: Nearly all the cities of Europe and America have conservatories of music and associations, whose object it is by voice and instrument to advance the art of sweet sounds. On Thursday nights him it is a satior's song. That one burned at Smithfield and with him it is a Exeter hall of London used to resound with the music of first-class performers, who gave their services gratultously to though waded, of fires endured, of persethe masses who came in with free tickets cution suffered, of grace extended! and huzzaed at the cutertainment. At Berlin at eleven o'clock daily the military band with sixty or one hundred instruments, discourses at the Royal Opera house for the people. On Easter Sunday in Dresden the boom of cannon and the ringing of bells bring multitudes to the church to listen to the organ penis, and the exciting sounds of trumpet and drum. When the great fgir-day of Leipsic comes, the bands of music from far and near gather in the street and bewilder the ear with incessant playing of flute and horn, vicim and bassoon. At Dusseldorf, once a year, the lovers of music assemble, and for three or four days wait upon the great singing festivals, and shout at the close of choruses and greet the successful competitors as the prizes are distributed-cups and vases of silver and gold All our American cities at times resound with orchestra and oratorio. Those who can sing well or play skilfully upon instruments are greeted with vociferation and garlanded by excited admirers.

There are many whose most cestatle delight is to be found in meiodies; and all the splendor of celestial gates, and all lusciousness of twelve manner of fruits, and all the rush of floods from under the throne of God, would not make heaven for them if there were no great and transporting harmonies. along our streets in the hour of worship,

THE VOICE OF SACRED MELODY although you do not enter the building. And passing along the streets of heaven we hear from the temple of God and the Lamb, the breaking forth of magnificent jubilate. We may not yet enter in among the favored throng, but God will not deny us the pleasure of standing awhile on the outside to hear. John listened to it a great while ago, and

Let none uspire to that blessed place who have no love for this exercise, for although it is many ages since the thrones were set, and the harps were strung, there has been no dessation in the song, excepting once for about thirty minutes; and, judging from the glorious things now transpiring in God's world, and the ever-accomminting triumphs of the Messiah, that was the last half-hour that heaven will ever be silent.

Mark the fact that this was a new song Sometimes I have in church been floated away upon some great choral, in which all our people seemed to mincle their voices, and I have, in the glow of my emotions, said, surely this is music good enough for heaven. Indeed I do not believe that "Lather's Hymn, " or "Cor-onation," or "Old Hundred," or spoken by sainted lips, or thrummed from seraphic harps. There are many of our fatners and mothers in glory who would be slow to shut heaven's gute against these old-time harmonies. But this, we are told, is a new sour. Some of our greatest anthems and chorals are compositions from other tunes-the sweetest parts of them gathered up into barmony; and I have sometimes thought that this "new song" may be partly made up of sweet strains of earthly music

MINGLED IN ETERNAL CHORAL. But it will, after all, be a new song This I do know, that in sweetness and power it will be something that ear never heard. All the skill of the oldest harpers of heaven will be flung into it. All the love of God's beart will ring from it. In its cadences the floods will clap their hands, and it will drop with the suplicht of everlisting day, and breathe with odors from the blossoms of the tree of life. "A new song" - just made for

Many earthly songs are written by composers just for the purpose of making a tune; and the land is flooded with notebooks in which really valuable tunes are the exception. But once in a while a man is wrought up by some great spectacle, or moved by some terrible agony, or transported by some exquisite glad ness, and he sits down to write a tune or a bymn, in which every note or every word is a spark dropped from the forge of his own burning emotions. So Mendelssohn wrote, and so Beethoven, and so Charles Wesley. Cowper, depressed with misfortunes until almost insane, resolved on suicide, and asked the cab where he expected to destroy his life. The cub driver lost his way, and Cowper began to think of his sin, and went back to his home and sat down and

H is wonders to perform; He plants his footsteps in the sea, And rides upon the storm.

"Ye fearful saints, fresh courage take, The clouds you so much dread Are big with mercy, and shall break In blessings on your heal.

Mozart composed his own requiem, and sald to his daughter Emily, "Play that; " and while Emily was playing the requiem, Mozart's soul went up on the wave of his own music into glory. Emily looked around, and her father was dead. This new song of heaven was not composed because heaven had nothing else to do, but Christ, in memory of cross and crown, of manger and throne, of earth and heaven, and wrought upon by the raptures of the great eternity, poured this from His heart, made it for the armies of heaven to shout in celebration of victory, for worshipers to chart in their temple services, for the innumerable home circles of heaven to sing in the house of many mansions. If a new tune be started in church, there is only here and there a person who can sing it. It is some time before the congregation learn a new tune. But not so with the new song of heaven. The children who Christian man or woman, who, a few minutes ago, departed from this very street, has joined it. All know it—those by the gates, those on the river bank, those in the temple. Not feeling their way through it, or halting, or going back, as if they never before had sung it, but with

A FULL BOUND VOICE they throw their soul into this new song. If some Sabbath day a few notes of that anthem should travel down the air, we could not sing it. No organ could roll its thunder. No harp could catch its trill. No lip could announce its sweet-ness. Transfixed, lost, enchanted, dumb, we could not hear it-the faintest note of the new song. Yet, while I speak, heaven's cathedral quakes under it, and sens of glory bear it from beach to beach, and ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands sing it-"the Further: It is a commemorative song, we are distinctly told that it makes reference to the past deliverances. Oh, how much have they to sing about. They sing of the darkness through which on earth they passed, and it is a night ong. That one was killed at Yorktown and with him it is a battle song. That one was imprisoned for Christ's sake and with him it is a prison song. That was a Christian sailor boy that had his back broken on the ship's halvards and with fire song. Oh! how they will sing of Song of hail! Song of sword! Song of hot lead! Song of axe! As when the organ pipes peal out some great harmony, there comes occasionally the sound of the tremulante, weeping through the cadences, adding exquisiteness to the performances, so amidst the stupendous acclaim of the heavenly worshippers shall come tremulous remem-

to the triumphal strain. So the glorifled mother will sing of the cradle that death robbed; and the enthroued spirit from the almshouse will sing of a lifetime of want. God may wipe away all tears, but not the memory of the grief that started them!

Further: It will be an accompanied song. Some have a great prejudice against musical instruments; and even among those who like them there is an idea that they are unauthorized. I love the cymbals, for Israel clapped them in triumph at the Red sea. I love the barp, for David struck it in praising the Lord. I love the trumpet, for we are told that it shall wake the dead. I love all stringed instruments and organs; God demands that we shall praise Him on stringed instruments and organs. There is in such music something to suggest the higher worship; for I rend that when he had taken the book, the fourand-twenty elders fell down before the Lamb, having every one of them "harps," and "I heard the voice of the harpers harping with their harps," and 'I saw them that had gotten the victory from the beast standing on the sea of glass, having the barps of God."

Yes, the song is to be accompanied. You say that all this is figurative. Then I say, prove it. I do not know how much of it is literal, and how much is figurative. Who can say but that from some of the precious woods of earth and heaven there may not be made instruments of celestial accord. In that worship David may take the harp, and Hab-akkuk the shiglonoth; and when the great multitudes shall, following their own inclinations, take up instruments sweeter than Mozart ever fingered, or Schumann ever dreamed of, or Beethoven ever wrote for, let all heaven make ready for the burst of stupendous min-strelsy, and the roll of the

ETERNAL ORCHESTRA!

Further: It will be an anticipative song. Why, my friends, beaven has hardly begun yet. If you had taken the opening piece of music to-day for the whole service, you would not have made so great a mistake as to suppose that heaven is fully inaugurated. Festal and be thou like a roe or a young hart choruses on earth last only a short while. The famous musical convocation at Dusseldorf ended with the fourth dny. Our holidays last only eight or ten days; but heaven, although singing for so many years, has only just begun 'the new song.' If the glorified inhabitants recount past deliverances, they will also enkindle at glories to come. If. at 9 o'clock, when the church opened, you had taken the few people who were scattered through it as the main audience, you would not have made so great a mistake as if you supposed that the present population of beaven are to be its chief citizenship. Although millions are already there, the inhabitants are only a handful compared with the future populations. All China is vet to be saved. All India is yet to be saved. All Borneo is yet to be saved. Switzerland is yet to be saved. All Italy is yet to be saved. All Spain is yet to be saved. All Russia is yet to be saved. All France is yet to be saved. All England is yet to be saved. All America is yet to be saved. All the world is yet to be saved. After that there may be other worlds to conquer. I do not know but that every star that glitters in our nights is an inhabited world, and that from all those spheres a mighty host are to march into our heaven. There will be no gate to keep them out. We do not want to keep them out. We will not want to keep them out. I have sometimes thought that all the millions of earth that go into glory are but a very small colony compared the influx from the whole universe. God could build a heaven large enough not only for the universe, but for want to keep them out. God will not

TEN THOUSAND UNIVERSES. I do not know just how it will be, but this I know, that heaven is to be constantly augmented; and that the song of glory is rising higher and higher, and the procession is being multiplied. If heaven sang when Abel went up-the first soul that ever left earth for glory-how must it sing now when souls go up in flocks from all christendom, hour by hour, and moment by moment.

Our happy gatherings on earth are chilled by the thought that soon we must separate. Thanksgiving and christmas days come, and the rall trains flying thither are crowded. Glad reunions take place. We have a time of great enjoyment. But soon it is "good-bye in the hall," "good-bye" at the door, "'good-bye' on the street, 'good-bye' at the rail train, 'good-bye' at the steamboat wharf. We meet in church. It is good to be here. But soon the doxology will be sung, the benediction pronounced and the audience will be gone. But there are no separations, no good-byes in At the door of the house of many mansions, no good-bye. At the pearly gate, no good-bye. The song will be more pleasant, because we are always to sing it. Mightier song as our other friends come in. Mightler song as other garlands are set on the brow of Jesus. Mightler song as Christ's glories unfold.

If the first day we enter heaven we ove, of more triumphs. Always something new to hear, something new to see. Many good people suppose that we shall see heaven the first day we get there. No! You can not see London in two weeks. You can not see Rome in six weeks. You can not see Venice in a month. You can not see the great city of the New Jerusalem in a day. No; it will take all eternity to see heaven, to count the towers, to examine the trophies, to gaze upon the throne, to see hierarchs. Ages on ages roll, and yet heaven is new! The streets new! The temple new!

THE JOY NEW! THE SONG NEW! I stayed a week at Niagra Falls, hoping thoroughly to understand and appreciate it. But on the last day they seemed newer and more incomprehensi-ble than on the first day. Gazing on the infinite rush of celestial splendors, where the oceans of delight mest, and pour themselves into the great heart of Godhow soon will we exhaust the song?

Never! Never! The old preachers in describing the sorrows of the lost, used to lift up their hands and shout, "The wrath to come!" "The wrath to come!" To-day I lift up my hands, and looking toward the great future, cry, 'The joy to come!' 'The bliss to come!' Oh, to wander on the banks of the bright river, and yet to feel that a little further down we shall find still brighter floods entering into it! Oh. to stand a thousand years listening to the enchanting music of heaven, and then to find out that the harpers are only tuning their harps.

Finally, I remark, that it will be a unanimous song. There will, no doubt, be some to lead, but all will be expected to join. It will be a grand congregational singing. All the sweet voices of the redeemed! Grand music it will be, when that new song arises. Luther sings it. Charles Wesley sings it. Lowell Mason sings it. Our voices now may be harsh and our ears uncultivated, but, our throats cleared at last, and our capacities enlarged, you and I will not be ashamed to utter our voices as loudly as any of them. Those nations that have always been distinguished for their capacity in song will lift up their voices in that melody. Those who have had much opportunity to hear the Germans sing will know what dea I mean to give them, when I say that the great German nation will pour their deep full voices into the new song. Everybody knows the natural gift of the African for singing. No singing on this continent like that of the COLORED CHURCHES IN THE SOUTH. Everybody going to Richmond or to Charleston wants to hear the Africans sing. But when not only Ethiopia, but all that continent of darkness, lifts up its hands, and all Africa pours her great volume of voice into the new song-that will be music for you. Added to this are all the sixteen thousand millions of children that are estimated to have gone into glory, and the host of young and old that hereafter shall people the earth and inhabit the stars. Oh! the new song! Gather it all up!

Multiply it with every sweetness! Pour into it every harmony! Crown it with every gladness! Belt it with every splendor! Fire it with every glory! Toss it to the greatest height of majesty! Roll it to the grandest cycle of eternity!-and then you have but the faintest conception of what John experienced when, amidst the magnificence of apocalyptic vision, he heard it-the new song!

God grant that at last we may all sing But if we do not sing the praise of Christ upon earth, we will never sing it in heaven. Be sure that your hearts are now attuned for the heavenly worship. There is a cathedral in Europe with an organ at each end. Organ answers organ, and the music waves backward and forward with indescribable effect. Well, my friends, the fine will come when earth and heaven will be but different parts of one great accord. It will be joy here and joy there! Jesus here and Jesus there! Trumpet to trumpet! Organ to organ! Hallelujah to hallelu-"Until the daybreak and the shadows fice away, turn, my beloved,

RUSK, TEX., Sept. 6.—A Democratic primary election to nominate county officers was held throughout the county yesterday. A large vote was polled and great interest was taken in the election by the friends of the opposing candidates The nomination is considered equivalent to an election, as the county is largely Democratic. The returns have been coming in slowly, and the suspense was not entirely relieved until to-day, when the last polling place was heard from, showing the following persons nomi-nated: Dr. L. Lloyd of Jacksonville, representative; Frank B. Guinn, county judge; W. E. Dorley, county attorney; John B. Rengar, sheriff; John H. Meeks, county clerk: T. J. Stovall, district clerk; Tom Ballew tax assessor; J. G. Summers, tax collector; J. C. Looney, treasurer, and H. S. Guinn, surveyor. The friends of the victors are to have a big time to-night with brass band, processions, firing big guns, etc.

CHARGES DENIED. Hon. John B. Long, the Democratic nominee for congress, has denounced through the local press the charges made in some portions of the district against his Democracy, and proposes to meet on the stump or anywhere else any oppo-nent, Independent or Republican, that will accept the wager of battle, and there is no doubt that he will make his word good, if he is opposed by anyone, which is believed to be very doubtful.

FLANAGAN TALKS. Special to the Gazette.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 6.—The Hon. Webster Flanagan, Republican nominee for governor said to-day: "My nomination was a square fight between he Cuney cohorts and myself and I owned them, and they did all they knew o beat me and I am very proud of my uccess, and the machine in Texasis not what it used to be. I do not expect of course to be elected governor of the state of Texas at the coming election but I do believe that the Republican vote will increased to an extent that will surprise the people. I accepted the nomi-nation because I want to exert my influence in behalf of the grand old party and to do all in my power to lead it to victory. In regard to the commission amendment, I believe it to be wanting in principle and there are thousands of real, true genuine Democrats who cannot be driven into voting for the amendment regardless of its insertion in the Democratic platform. The amendment will be defeated and the Republican minority will not be near so small as it has heretofore been."

CAMPAIGN ORGANIZED AUSTIN, TEX., Sept. 6.—The state Democratic executive committee closed its meeting here to-day, Hon. N. W. Finley of Tyler presiding. The committee appointed to report upon the form of the state Democratic ticket reported in favor of the following form: Democratic ticket.

For the amendment to article 10, sec tion 28 of the constitution relating to railroads. For governor, James S. Hogg.

For lieutenant-governor, George C. Pendleton. For attorney-general, Charles A. Culberson.

For comptroller, John D. McCall. For treasurer, W. B. Wortham. For land commissioner, W. L. Mc-

For state superintendent of public instruction, H. C. Pritchett. For amendment to section 9, article 8, of the constitution.

Against amendment of section 9, article 8, of the constitution. For congress, district (here district officers).

Here county officers. The committee further recommended that no other form of ticket be recognized for the November election. The following appointments for speaking were made to be filled by nominees for state offices: Pearsall, September 24. Gainesville, September 25. Amarillo, September 27. Colorado City, September 29. Also the following for October:

El Paso, October 1. Nacogdoches, October 2. San Augustine, October 3. Mason, October 4. Sulphur Springs, October 6. Mount Pleasant, October 7. Clarksville, October 9. Marlin, October 10. Gatesville, October 11. Canton, October 14. Mineola, October 15. Giddings, October 17.

Navasota, October 18. Stephenville, October 21. Orange, October 22. Corpus Christi, November 1. The following resolution was adopted on motion of Mr. Hudson: Resolved, that the Democratic party make an aggressive campaign, and that it shall be the duty of the chairman of the executive committee of each senstorial district to furnish on application speakers to fill all appointments requested by all political gatherings in their respective districts.

The fellowing members of the committee were present: Hon, N. W. Finley, chairman; J. Y. Gooch of Anderson county, James McDonald of Galveston county, B. G. Bryan of Washington county, E. R. Sinks of Lee county, Ben Ayres of Tarrant county, W. C. O'Bryan of McLennan county, Frank Andrews of Bell county, Joseph W. Robertson of Williamson county, L. P. Brown of Hays county, R. W. Hudson of Frio county, Edward Dwyer of Bexar county, A. S. Clendenen of Fannin county.

BOSS REED INDORSED.

Special to the Gazette. SAN ANTONIO, TEX., Sept. 6 .- In the great hubbub and confusion incident to the closing scenes of the Republican state convention yesterday evening, quite a number of important resolutions were adopted which the reporters failed to get.

Among them were the following: Resolved, that we as the state Republican convention now assembled in San Antonio, Tex., do most vigorously, fearlessly and explicitly denounce the outrages committed on the Republicans by Democrats in various parts of this state; that we censure the present state governor for failing to subjugate the perpetrators for the perpetration of such offenses; that we demand of congress emphatically the enactment into law the proposition pending in the upper house of ongress, known as the Lodge election bill, that the Republicans may have a legal chance to elect about forty more congressmen from the South. Resolved, That this convention heartily indorse the position taken by the speaker of the national house of representatives, the Hon. Thomas B. Reed; that this is a government of ma-jorities and that it is essential to the nation's welfare that a full, fair and free expression of the majority vote be promptly obtained. We congratulate ourselves and the country that under the calm, strong and intrepld leadership of the Hon. Thos. B. Reed this most desirable result has been obtained.

RUSSIAN EXILE SYSTEM.

Wives See Their Husbands Killed and Mothers See Their Daughters Outraged-

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Sept. 5 .- The barkentine Catherine Sudden has arrived at Port Townsend from Siberia. Her commander, Capt. John Thomas of this city, gives a description of the Russian exile system as witnessed by him. He describes the brutal scene which he witnessed on Logholien island, a famous exile prison. A large party of exiles of all ages, heavily manacled, were being taken to the island. A few old men whose strength gave out fell from exhaustion. The brutal driver, acting under orders from his superior, shot the unfortunate men and removed their chains, No mercy or discrimination was shown. Wives saw their husbands killed before their eyes. Mothers saw their daughters outraged and insulted. The exiles were driven like cattle, a heavy whip being used to urge them on. The prison cells were filthy and the treatment was Sins-Received Encyclopædia. Am perfectly delighted with it Accept many thanks.

MRS. S. N. THOMPSON.

A LIBRARY WITHIN ITSELF.

To the Gazette.

Draw Sins-In regard to the premium Encyclopasila received from you I would say that I have carefully examined same, and that to my opinion it is the best work on the subject of human nature and physicanomy that I have ever had the pleasure to examine. It is a marvel in cheapness, a library within itself; and all who fail to procure it at the price it is offered by The GAZETTE miss a rare opportunity. Yours truly,

WILL KEEP IT FOR AN HEIRLOOM.

Brazos, Palo Pinto County, Tex., Aug. 18, 1800.

Drar Sir-I received the Encyclopædia and am well pleased with it. It proves to be a good book and brimfull of good things. I think that every family ought to possess one of them. I am going to keep mine for an heirloom for my grand children. Many thanks to The Gazette;

S. C. DABNEY. SHOULD BE IN EVERY FAMILY.

Garette, Fort Worth, Tex.

Gents-Ithink The Garette's premium Encyclopedia should be in every family. If read, understood and its instructions put into general practice, what a benefactor to our race it would be. Respectfully yours,

WORTH FIVE TIMES THE MONEY. Democrat Pub. Co.

Democrat Pub. Co.

Bran Sirs-Received Encyclopedia promptly, according to promise, and will say I am very much pleased with it. I believe it to be worth five times the money asked for it. I think it is a most valuable premium and should be found, along with Thu Gazurre, in every home in Texas. With many good wishes for The Gazurre, the most popular paper in Texas, I remain yours traity, INO. W. MEAD.

EVERY HOME SHOULD HAVE IT. Sing-My honest opinion of the Encyclopædia is that a better and more instructive book could not be found. I have read it and rescanned the pages with increasing interest each time I would find something new. In fact, I think every home should have one. Respectfully.

INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE. The Democrat Pub. Co., Fort Worth, Tex.

General am in receipt of the Encyclopædia forwarded to me as a premium with the Weekly Gazerte, and will say for the information of those that anticipate sending for the same that I am well pleased with the book. I find it very interesting as well as instructive, treating on many enbjects of importance to the old or young, rich or poor, and outlining in many instances the sauses of immorality that is abroad in our land. Yours very truly,

C. V. OGDEN.

SHOULD BE IN EVERY HOME. To the Gazette.

DEAR SIRS-We received the Encyclopædia all right. It is indeed a book of knowledge and should be in every household, Please accept my sincere thanks. MRS, M. A. HOWELL.

A MARVEL OF CHEAPNESS.

The Fort Worth Garette, Fort Worth, Tex.

GLEN Rose, Tex., Aug. 15, 1830.

MESSES.—THE GARETTE'S Premium Encyclopædia came in good condition, and is a marvel cheapness. When such a book as the Encyclopædia can be furnished at so little (for it is all yellim for it), what will books cost a decade hence? Very truly,

A. CURRIE.

A GOOD AND USEFUL BOOK. The Gazette, Fort Worth.

STRAWN, TEX., Aug. 18, 1890.

GENTLEMEN.—I fixe the Encyclopædia. It is worth three times the money it cost me, and I find it a good and useful book. Thanks for the premium and success to The Gazette. Yours truly,

J. B. HART.

WORTH TWICE THE MONEY.

Am well pleased with the Encyclopædia are think it worth twice the money it cost me. Respectfully,
